This document summarises the extent to which the EPR Toolbox materials may be published, reproduced and copied and how, in case of changes, the EPR Toolbox should be referred to as a reference document for further publications.

Use of the EPR Toolbox

The EPR Toolbox of the PREVENT Waste Alliance is licensed under Creative Commons CC BY-ND 4.0. To view a copy of this license, visit https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nd/4.0.

This license requires that (re-)users give credit to the creator. It allows them to copy and distribute the material in any medium or format in unadapted form only, even for commercial purposes.

The PREVENT Secretariat welcomes being informed about the use of the EPR Toolbox by other actors in countries worldwide, as this helps us to maintain an overview on how and where contents of the Toolbox are being utilised.

If you wish to include the EPR Toolbox interactive PDF for download on your website or other platforms, it is recommended to insert the link to the PREVENT EPR Toolbox website, as it is meant to be a „living document" and further updates will be released.

The Secretariat invites users to give feedback regarding the content or recommendations for additional material, such as new case studies. Please approach us via contact@prevent-waste.net.

By downloading the EPR Toolbox, the user agrees to limit its use to activities, publications, events and projects that are consistent with the aims of the PREVENT Waste Alliance.

Which layout to use?

The original layout of EPR Toolbox materials can only be used if the content has not been adapted at all.

If the EPR Toolbox is translated but the original content is not adapted, the original design and PREVENT branding must be maintained as well. Further logos and a reference in the imprint, stating who provided the translation, can be added.

If content of the EPR Toolbox is amended or extracted for other formats, the layout of the acting organisation shall be used. Example:

Extracting content

If you create new material and the content is based on the PREVENT EPR Toolbox, the PREVENT Waste Alliance must always be mentioned as the source. This also applies when extracting figures, graphs and tables. Different ways are possible, e.g.:

Source: Cite the name, the year of creation, if possible, the exact document from which you took the information and ideally the link to the website. Example:

PREVENT Waste Alliance. 2020. EPR Toolbox. Factsheet 02: How can a PRO be established?. More information: https://prevent-waste.net/en/epr-toolbox/.

Disclaimer: This project/activity/publication/etc. is based on the EPR Toolbox, published by the PREVENT Waste Alliance, an initiative of the German Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ). More information: https://prevent-waste.net/en/epr-toolbox/.

Including the PREVENT and the EPR Toolbox logos in your working material is only allowed if the documents are mainly based on the Toolbox contents and your organisation's activities, publications, events and projects are consistent with the aims of the PREVENT Waste Alliance. Please consult with the PREVENT Secretariat before publication: contact@prevent-waste.net.

Please consider that the use of any illustration in the EPR Toolbox is restricted to the use within the PREVENT Waste Alliance and shall not be reproduced in any other context. The videos of the EPR Toolbox video series EPR explained! may only be shared without any type of modification, contents may not be extracted or copied for other purposes and products without consulting with the PREVENT Secretariat.
